

Consent form for Structured Survey of Current Students and Recent Graduates

Introduction:

Hello! My name is _____. I am from the research organization named NEERMAN, Mumbai. I am here to conduct your interviews for a study to understand the need, challenges, expectations and preferences for medical and nursing education and future job and career. This study is being conducted by the World Bank in collaboration with the health department of Government of [Tamil Nadu / Assam].

What are we requesting you to do?

I am requesting you complete this survey questionnaire electronically on [\[at this Web-link\]](#). This self-administered form should take on average 40-45 minutes of your time. There are adequate instructions and tips throughout to help you understand the questions and answer options better. However, [I will be moderating this interview in person to guide you throughout and you can also ask me questions / if you have questions, you can contact the support desk any time at research@neerman.org and we will come back with explanation to you].

The type of information collected from will include but is not limited to: (a) your socio-economic background; (b) perspectives and experiences in your educational and professional life; (c) aspirations for higher studies (d) costs and challenges faced in medical/nursing education and job market; (e) future job preferences and (f) earnings and benefits from medical/nursing education and profession. Additionally, you will also participate in a 'discrete choice experiment' where we will ask you to choose from 2-3 alternatives related to [medical/nursing] education and career, and offer 5-6 such sets. There are no questions that can harm you financially or emotionally, but you can refuse answering any questions you don't want to.

The data you provide will be analysed statistically and will never be linked to you individually. All data is presented as summary at a broad level only. The analysis will help us advise the World Bank and the [Govt of Tamil Nadu / Assam] on policies and strategies for medical and nursing education.

The benefits of participating

\[To recent graduates: To encourage participation, if you participate in this study, then your name will be entered in a raffle where 30 Amazon or Flipkart gift cards each worth Rs 500 will be awarded. Your name shall remain in the raffle even if you refuse to answer questions or withdraw consent as long as you provide basic information about you that we can verify. However, your decision to participate should not be motivated by this raffle but perhaps you may derive a sense of contribution by being a part of this study which is expected to help future generation of doctors and nurses].
